

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Gatekeeper Press Offers Relief to Tate Authors

Columbus, OH – (April 17, 2017) Today, Gatekeeper Press announced an offer to all authors recently left in the dust by the closing of Tate Publishing.

Through the end of May, Gatekeeper Press is offering a discount of 50% off all its services to any author formerly affiliated with Tate. These authors are encouraged to immediately contact Gatekeeper Press at TateOffer@GatekeeperPress.com or by calling 866-535-0913. They need only provide their Tate Contract Release Form to receive the discount.

Gatekeeper Press is a publishing service provider and distribution aggregator run by IBPA's Board Chair-Elect, Rob Price. It burst onto the scene in 2015 by offering authors 100% rights, royalties, and control, along with a full suite of Big 5-quality a la carte services, including Cover Design ($299), eBook Conversion and Distribution ($299), Paperback Design and Distribution ($399), Hardcover Design and Distribution ($399), Editing and Proofreading ($12.50/1,000 words and $7.50/1,000 words), and Illustrations for children's books ($40 per illustration).

Price says, "This offer symbolizes what Gatekeeper Press is all about: an author-centric approach with unparalleled attention. One by one, we continue to change the perception of the self-publishing industry and continue to open the gates of book-publishing with the highest quality and best prices. Simply put, we treat our authors like family."

###

For more information or schedule an interview, contact Tony Chellini at tchellini@gatekeeperpress.com or 866-535-0913, ext. 711.